

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A light or radiation emitting source that utilizes radiation emitting solid state or semiconductor devices is disclosed. The devices are mounted on an elongate member having at least two surfaces upon which the light emitting diodes are mounted. The elongate member is thermally conductive and is utilized to cool the devices. In the illustrative embodiment, the elongate member is a tubular member through which a heat transfer medium flows.